

ABOUT THE AUTHORS

MA. LOURDES ACOSTA has an MA in Sociology and is an MA Candidate in Women and Development Studies, CSWCD, University of the Philippines-Diliman. Currently, she is also Program Officer at the Reproductive Health, Rights and Ethics Center for Studies and Training (REPROCEN).

VICTORIA ARCEGA-BAUTISTA is a Professor at the National College of Public Administration and Governance (NCPAG), University of the Philippines-Diliman. An experienced researcher, she is also the recipient of various awards, including the National Academy of Science and Technology Book Award in 1999, the Gawad Chanselor sa Pinakamabusay na Mananaliksik (Chancellor's Award for Best Researcher) and the NCPAG Outstanding Faculty Award in 2002.

VICTOR MAGLAMBAYAN is Associate Professor and Director of the National Institute for Geological Sciences, University of the Philippines-Diliman. He received his degree as a Doctor of Resource Science from Akita University, Japan in 1998. He lists his specializations as Economic Geology, Structural Geology and Environmental Geology.

ROSALINDA PINEDA-OFRENEO is Professor, Department of Women and Development Studies, College of Social Work and Community Development, University of the Philippines-Diliman. Through the years, she has been learning from and working with grassroots women, especially homeworkers in the informal economy.

NYMIA PIMENTEL SIMBULAN is Associate Professor of Sociology, University of the Philippines-Manila and a Doctor of Public Health. Active in the human rights movement, particularly in the area of health, she is the current chairperson of the Medical Action Group Inc, a human rights NGO committed to the promotion and defense of the people's right to health and doing work to deliver health services to victims of human rights violations in the country.