

NOTES ON THE CONTRIBUTORS

Eduardo P Banzon is a clinical associate professor at the University of the Philippines (UP) College of Medicine where he received his MD. He is also an attending family physician at the Philippine General Hospital and research associate professor at the National Institutes of Health. He received his MS from the London School of Economics and the London School of Hygiene and Tropical Medicine.

Emmanuel S de Dios is chairman of the Department of Economics, UP School of Economics, and director of the European Studies Program of the UP Center for Integrative and Development Studies (CIDS). His research interests include international economics, industrial organization, economic development and theory.

Raul V Fabella is dean of the UP School of Economics. His main research interests include team theory, rent-seeking theory, and studies on industrial organization and the exchange rate. Besides teaching, he is also the Associate Editor of the Asian Economic Journal and the Journal of Economic Behavior and Organization.

Gonzalo M Jurado is Visiting Senior Research Fellow at the Philippine Institute for Development Studies and a consultant for economics and statistics to the Asian Development Bank. He was a senior expert on economic policy coordination at the United Nations Economic and Social Commission for Asia and the Pacific in Bangkok, lecturer in economic statistics and national accounts at the UN Statistical Institute for Asia and the Pacific in Tokyo, consultant to the International Labor Institute in Bangkok, and professor of economics at the University of the Philippines.

Gerardo P Sicat is a professor at the UP School of Economics. He was former Secretary of Socio-Economic Planning and Director-General of the National Economic and Development Authority. He recently retired as a senior staff member of the World Bank in Washington, DC.

Orville Jose C Solon is an associate professor at the UP School of Economics where he received his PhD and MA in economics. He was Takemi Fellow at Harvard University from 1989 to 1990, visiting researcher at the International Food Policy Research Institute in 1989, UP School of Economics Fellow from 1983 to 1984, and NEDA Statistics Fellow from 1981 to 1983. His teaching and research interests include health economics, urban economics and public economics.

Gwendolyn R Tecson is a professor at the UP School of Economics where she is also the director for Public Affairs and the Program in Development Economics. She received her MA in economics from the University of the Philippines and her PhD in economics from Hitotsubashi University. She is also a consultant for the World Bank, Asian Development Bank and ASEAN Secretariat.